Norman Deutschman, manager of purchasing, Polymer Industries Inc., Springdale, Conn.:

"When a delayed delivery causes us to adjust our production schedule, we do seek to determine the specific causes. This is done not only to enable us to further evaluate this vendor, but also to constructively arrive at methods to avoid a recurrence. Where a delivery has had no particular impact on our operation, we will not make a great effort to determine the cause, but if the opportunity arises, we will informally discuss it with the sales representative of the firm involved."
